Listed companies should ensure adequate communications with investors and analysts by pursuing a transparent and effective disclosure policy. To this end, they should ensure easy and non-discriminatory access to disclosed information using diverse tools of communication.

Recommendations

- I.R.1. Where a company becomes aware that untrue information is disseminated in the media, which significantly affects its evaluation, it should immediately publish on its website a communiqué containing its position on such information, unless in the opinion of the company the nature of such information and the circumstances of its publication give reasons to follow a more adequate solution.

This recommendation may be implemented through open meetings with investors and analysts or in other formats allowed by a company.
This principle is applied.
- I.R.4. Companies should use best efforts, including taking all steps well in advance as necessary to prepare a periodic report, to allow investors to review their financial results as soon as possible after the end of a reporting period.
This principle is applied.

Detailed principles

- I.Z.1. A company should operate a corporate website and publish on it, in a legible form and in a separate section, in addition to information required under the legislation:
- I.Z.1.1. basic corporate documents, in particular the company’s articles of association,
This principle is applied.
- I.Z.1.2. the full names of the members of its management board and supervisory board and the professional CVs of the members of these bodies including information on the fulfilment of the criteria of independence by members of the supervisory board;
This principle is applied.
- I.Z.1.3. a chart showing the division of duties and responsibilities among members of the management board drawn up according to principle II.Z.1,
This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The Company has in place a clear division of tasks between the president of the management board, responsible for the execution of the overall strategy and operation development of the entire capital group, and the vice president of the management board, responsible for the development of the strategic area of operation, namely the call centre segment. Information concerning the scope of responsibility of a member of the management board is published on the corporate website.

This principle is applied.
- I.Z.1.6. information on the dates of corporate events leading to the acquisition or limitation of rights of a shareholder, information on the dates of publication of financial reports and other events relevant to investors, within a time frame enabling investors to make investment decisions,

This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The Company has no written document stating the rules to be followed by the persons making decisions on the appointment of members of the management board or supervisory board of the Company, however the Company applies such rules. Following the above criteria allows the appointment of members of the above-mentioned corporate bodies ensuring effective and efficient functioning of the Company and execution of the strategic goals, financial budgets and the plans of further development. The Company is in the position that the application of the above recommendation generally contributes to the limitation of inequalities between women and men's access to decisive positions in listed companies.
- I.Z.1.16. information about the planned transmission of a general meeting, no later than 7 days before the date of the general meeting,
This principle is not applied.
Commentary by the company: The Company does not broadcast the meetings. The Company is in the position that the procedure of holding the Shareholders General Meetings in compliance with the regulations resulting from the Commercial Companies Code and information duties and KDPW (Central Securities Depository of Poland) regulations, allow all shareholders interested in these events to attend the meetings (in person or through a proxy). At the same time the Company declares that using the possibility granted by the regulations concerning information obligations of public companies, it makes public the full contents of resolutions adopted at the Meeting, results of all votes and any significant decisions made during the Meeting, also in form of separate current reports. In the so far history of the Company, there was no situation that the shareholders or investors would complain about the quality of the information policy of the Company within this scope.

II. Managing Board and Supervisory Board

A listed company is managed by its managing board, whose members act in the interest of the company and are responsible for its activity. The management board is responsible among others for the company's leadership, engagement in setting and implementing its strategic objectives, and ensuring the company's efficiency and safety.

A company is supervised by an effective and competent supervisory board. Supervisory Board members act in the interest of the company and follow their independent opinions and judgement. The Supervisory Board in particular issues opinions on the company's strategy, verifies the work of the management board in pursuit of defined strategic objectives, and monitors the company's performance.

Recommendations

- II.R.1. To ensure the highest standards of the management board and the supervisory board of a company in efficient fulfilment of their obligations, the management board and the supervisory board should have members who represent high qualifications and experience.

- II.R.2. Decisions to elect members of the management board or the supervisory board of a company should ensure that the composition of these bodies is comprehensive and diverse among others in terms of gender, education, age and professional experience.
This principle is applied.
- II.R.3. Functions on the management board of a company should be the main area of the professional activity of management board members. Additional professional activities of management board members must not require so much time and effort that they could adversely affect proper performance of functions in the company. In particular, management board members should not be members of governing bodies of other entities if the time devoted to functions in such other entities prevents their proper performance in the company.
This principle is applied.
- II.R.4. Supervisory board members must be able to devote the time necessary to perform their duties.

This principle is applied.
- II.R.7. A company should allow its supervisory board to use professional and independent advisory services necessary for the supervisory board to exercise effective supervision in the company. In its selection of the advisory service provider, the supervisory board should take into account the financial standing of the company.
This principle is applied.

Detailed principles

- II.Z.1. The internal division of responsibilities for individual areas of the company's activity among management board members should be clear and transparent, and a chart describing that division should be available on the company's website.
This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The management board commentary has been presented under I.Z.1.3.
- II.Z.2. A company's management board members may sit on the management board or supervisory board of companies other than members of its group subject to the approval of the supervisory board.
This principle is applied.
- II.Z.3. At least two members of the supervisory board should meet the criteria of being independent referred to in principle II.Z.4
This principle is applied.
- II.Z.4. Annex II to the European Commission Recommendation of 15 February 2005 on the role of non-executive or supervisory directors of listed companies and on the committees of the (supervisory) board applies to the independence criteria of supervisory board members. Irrespective of the provisions of point 1(b) of the said Annex, a person who is an employee of the company or its subsidiary or affiliate or has entered into a similar agreement with any of them cannot be deemed to meet the independence criteria. In addition, a relationship with a shareholder precluding the independence of a member of the supervisory board as understood in this principle is an actual and 9 significant relationship with any shareholder who holds at least 5% of the total vote in the company.
This principle is applied.
- II.Z.5. Each supervisory board member should provide the other members of the supervisory board as well as the company's management board with a statement of meeting the independence criteria referred to in principle II.Z.4.
This principle is applied.
- II.Z.6. The supervisory board should identify any relationships or circumstances which may affect a supervisory board member's fulfilment of the independence criteria. An assessment of supervisory board members' fulfilment of the independence criteria should be presented by the supervisory board according to principle II.Z.10.2.
This principle is applied.
- II.Z.7. Annex I to the Commission Recommendation referred to in principle II.Z.4 applies to the tasks and the operation of the committees of the supervisory board. Where the functions of the audit committee are performed by the supervisory board, the foregoing should apply accordingly.
This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The functions of the audit committee are performed in the Company by the Supervisory Board.
- II.Z.8. The chair of the audit committee should meet the independence criteria referred to in principle II.Z.4.
This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The functions of the audit committee are performed in the Company by the Supervisory Board.
- II.Z.9. To enable the supervisory board to perform its duties, the company's management board should give the supervisory board access to information on matters concerning the company.
This principle is applied.
- II.Z.10. In addition to its responsibilities laid down in the legislation, the supervisory board should prepare and present to the ordinary general meeting once per year the following:
- II.Z.10.1 an assessment of the company's standing including an assessment of the internal control, risk management, and compliance systems and the internal audit function; such assessment should cover all significant controls, in particular financial reporting and operational controls;
This principle is applied.
- II.Z.10.2 a report on the activity of the supervisory board containing at least the following information:

- This principle is applied.*
Commentary by the company: The functions of the audit committee are performed in the Company by the Supervisory Board.

- II.Z.10.3 an assessment of the company's compliance with the disclosure obligations concerning compliance with the corporate governance principles defined in the Exchange Rules and the regulations on current and periodical reports published by issuers of securities;
This principle is applied.
- II.Z.10.4 an assessment of the rationality of the company's policy referred to in recommendation I.R.2 information about the absence of such policy.
This principle is applied.

- II.Z.11. The supervisory board should review and issue opinions on matters to be decided in resolutions of the general meeting.
This principle is applied.

III. Internal systems and functions

Listed companies should maintain efficient internal control, risk management and compliance systems and an efficient internal audit function adequate to the size of the company and the type and scale of its activity.

Recommendations

- III.R.1. The company's structure should include separate units responsible for the performance of tasks in individual systems or functions unless the separation of such units is not justified by the size or type of the company's activity.
This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The Company structure includes separate units responsible for the performance of tasks in individual systems and functions unless the separation of such units is not justified by the current needs of the Company.

Detailed principles

- III.Z.1. The company's management board is responsible for the implementation and maintenance of efficient internal control, risk management and compliance systems and internal audit function.
This principle is applied.
- III.Z.2. Subject to principle III.Z.3, persons responsible for risk management, internal audit and compliance should report directly to the president or other member of the management board and should be allowed to report directly to the supervisory board or the audit committee.
This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The Management Board appoints persons to perform tasks within risk management, internal audit or compliance, if it is justified by the current needs of the Company.
- III.Z.3. The independence rules defined in generally accepted international standards of the professional internal audit practice apply to the person heading the internal audit function and other persons responsible for such tasks.
This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The Management Board appoints persons to perform tasks within risk management, internal audit or compliance, if it is justified by the current needs of the Company.
- III.Z.4. The person responsible for internal audit (if the function is separated in the company) and the management board should report to the supervisory board at least once per year with their assessment of the efficiency of the systems and functions referred to in principle III.Z.1 and table a relevant report
This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The Management Board appoints persons to perform tasks within risk management, internal audit or compliance, if it is justified by the current needs of the Company. Until present such persons have not submitted to the supervisory board their opinions on the functioning of the indicated systems and functions in the Company.
- III.Z.5. The supervisory board should monitor the efficiency of the systems and functions referred to in principle III.Z.1 among others on the basis of reports provided periodically by the persons responsible for the functions and the company's 12 managing board, and make an annual assessment of the efficiency of such systems and functions according to principle II.Z.10.1. Where the company has an audit committee, it should monitor the efficiency of the systems and functions referred to in principle III.Z.1, which however does not release the supervisory board from the annual assessment of the efficiency of such systems and functions.
This principle is applied.
Commentary by the company: The Management Board appoints persons to perform tasks within risk management, internal audit or compliance, if it is justified by the current needs of the Company. Until present the operations of those persons has not been subject to supervisory board monitoring.
- III.Z.6. Where the company has no separate internal audit function in its organisation, the audit committee (or the supervisory board if it performs the functions of the audit committee) should review on an annual basis whether such function needs to be separated.
This principle is applied.

IV. General Meeting, Shareholder Relations

The management board and the supervisory board of a listed company should encourage the engagement of shareholders in matters of the company, in particular through active participation in the general meeting.

The general meeting should proceed by respecting the rights of shareholders and ensuring that passed resolutions do not infringe on reasonable interests of different groups of shareholders.

Shareholders who participate in a general meeting should exercise their rights in accordance with the rules of good conduct.

Recommendations

IV.R.1. Companies should strive to hold an ordinary general meeting as soon as possible after the publication of an annual report and set the date in keeping with the applicable legislation.

This principle is applied.

IV.R.2. If justified by the structure of shareholders or expectations of shareholders notified to the company, and if the company is in a position to provide the technical infrastructure necessary for a general meeting to proceed efficiently using electronic communication means, the company should enable its shareholders to participate in a general meeting using such means, in particular through:

- 1) real-time broadcast of the general meeting,
- 2) real-time bilateral communication where shareholders may take the floor during a general meeting from a location other than the general meeting,
- 3) exercise of the right to vote during a general meeting either in person or through a plenipotentiary.

This principle is not applied.

Commentary by the company: The Company does not provide for the possibility to participate in the general meeting with the use of electronic communication measures, and does not provide for the possibility to broadcast the general meeting proceedings in real time. In the Company opinion, the execution of each of these principles would involve high technical and legal risks. Allowing the shareholders to attend the general meeting, and in particular to join the discussion without being physically present on site, with the use of electronic communication means, involves the risks of technical and legal nature for proper and efficient course of the general meeting. Legal regulations do not regulate the issues associated with the organisation of the so called online general meeting. There is no description of the issues concerning the principles of holding the meeting, identifying the shareholders or their proxies, or objecting to the adopted resolution, and the procedures in case of any disruption in the broadcast (concerning all or some of persons authorized to attend the general meeting) preventing appropriate attendance in the general meeting with the use of electronic communication meetings, or the receipt of the meeting broadcast in real time. So far there has not been developed a broader practice of holding general meetings in this form. There are no statutory consequences defined as regards the liability for improper holding of the general meeting, in particular for a disruption of electronic access to the general meeting proceedings for reasons attributable to the company or completely independent of the company. The arguments given above make those instruments highly risky and useless due to indemnity risk of the Company, and expose the Company to the accusation of unequal treatment of the shareholders. In the opinion of the Company, the existing rules of participation in general meetings provide for proper and effective execution of rights resulting from the shares held, and sufficiently secure the interest of all shareholders.

IV.R.3. Where securities issued by a company are traded in different countries (or in different markets) and in different legal systems, the company should strive to ensure that corporate events related to the acquisition of rights by shareholders take place on the same dates in all the countries where such securities are traded.

This principle does not apply to the company.

Commentary by the company: Company securities are only traded in Poland.

Detailed principles

IV.Z.1. Companies should set the place and date of a general meeting so as to enable the participation of the highest possible number of shareholders.

This principle is applied.

IV.Z.2. If justified by the structure of shareholders, companies should ensure publicly available real-time broadcasts of general meetings.

This principle is not applied.

Commentary by the company: The management board commentary has been described under I.Z.1.16.

IV.Z.3. Presence of representatives of the media should be allowed at general meetings.

This principle is applied.

IV.Z.4. If the management board becomes aware a general meeting being convened pursuant to Article 399 § 2 – 4 of the Commercial Companies Code, the management board should immediately take steps which it is required to take in order to organise and conduct the general meeting. The foregoing applies also where a general meeting is convened under authority granted by the registration court according to Article 400 § 3 of the Commercial Companies Code.

This principle is applied.

- IV.Z.5. The rules of general meetings and the method of conducting the meeting and adopting resolutions must not restrict the participation of shareholders in general meetings and the exercising of their rights. Amendments of the rules of the general meeting should take effect at the earliest as of the next general meeting. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.6. Companies should strive to ensure that the cancellation of a general meeting, change of its date or break in its proceedings do not prevent or limit the exercising of the shareholders' rights to participate in the general meeting. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.7. A break in the proceedings of the general meeting may only take place in special cases, defined at each time in the justification of the resolution announcing the break, drafted on the basis of reasons provided by the shareholder requesting the break. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.8. A resolution of the general meeting announcing a break should clearly set the date and time when the proceedings recommence, and such date and time must not be a barrier for most shareholders, including minority shareholders, to participate in the continuation of the proceedings. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.9. Companies should strive to ensure that draft resolutions of the general meeting contain a justification if it helps shareholders to pass a resolution with adequate understanding. If a matter is put on the agenda of the general meeting at the request of a shareholder or shareholders, the management board or the chair of the general meeting should request presentation of the justification of the proposed resolution. In important matters and matters which may give rise to any doubt of shareholders, the company should provide a justification, unless it otherwise provides the shareholders with information necessary to pass a resolution with adequate understanding. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.10. Any exercise of the rights of shareholders or the way in which they exercise their rights must not hinder the proper functioning of the governing bodies of the company. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.11. Members of the management board and the supervisory board should participate in a general meeting as necessary to answer questions asked at the general meeting. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.12. The management board should present to participants of an ordinary general meeting the financial results of the company and other relevant information contained in the financial statements to be approved by the general meeting. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.13. If a shareholder request information about the company, the management board of the company should provide an answer to the shareholder's request within 30 days or inform the shareholder of its refusal to provide such information where the management board has made such decision pursuant to Article 428 § 2 or § 3 of the Commercial Companies Code. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.14. Resolutions of the general meeting should allow for a sufficient period of time between decisions causing specific corporate events and the date of determination of the rights of shareholders pursuant to such events. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.15. A resolution of the general meeting concerning an issue of shares with subscription rights should specify the issue price or the mechanism of setting the price or authorise the competent governing body to set the price prior to the subscription right record date within the time frame necessary for investors to make decisions. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.16. The dividend record date and the dividend payment date should be set so as to ensure that the period between them is no longer than 15 business days. A longer period between these dates requires a justification. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.17. A resolution of the general meeting concerning a conditional dividend payment may only contain such conditions whose potential fulfilment takes place before the dividend record date. This principle is applied.
- IV.Z.18. A resolution of the general meeting to split the nominal value of shares should not set the new nominal value of the shares below PLN 0.50, which could result in a very low unit market value of the shares, and which could consequently pose a threat to the correct and reliable valuation of the company listed on the Exchange. This principle is applied.

V. Conflict of Interest, Related Party Transactions

For the purpose of this Section, 'related party' is defined under the International Accounting Standards approved in Regulation No (EU) 1606/2002 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 19 July 2002 on the application of international accounting standards.

Companies should have in place transparent procedures for preventing conflicts of interest and related party transactions where a conflict of interest may occur. The procedures should provide for ways to identify, disclose and manage such cases.

Recommendations

V.R.1. Members of the management board and the supervisory board should refrain from professional or other activities which might cause a conflict of interest or adversely affect their reputation as members of the governing bodies of the company, and where a conflict of interest arises, immediately disclose it.

This principle is applied.

Detailed principles

V.Z.1. No shareholder should have preference over other shareholders in transactions concluded by the company with shareholders or their related parties.

This principle is applied.

V.Z.2. Members of the management board or the supervisory board should notify the management board or the supervisory board, respectively, of any conflict of interest which has arisen or may arise, and should refrain from voting on a resolution on the issue which may give rise to such a conflict of interest in their case.

This principle is applied.

V.Z.3. Members of the management board or the supervisory board must not accept any benefits which might affect their impartiality and objectivity in making decisions or reflect unfavourably on the assessment of the independence of their opinions or judgements.

This principle is applied.

V.Z.4. Where a member of the management board or the supervisory board concludes that a decision of the management board or the supervisory board, respectively, is in conflict with the interest of the company, he or she may request that the minutes of the management board or the supervisory board meeting show his or her position.

This principle is applied.

V.Z.5. Before the company concludes a significant agreement with a shareholder who holds at least 5% of the total vote in the company or with a related party, the management board should request the supervisory board's approval of the transaction. Before giving its approval, the supervisory board should evaluate the impact of the transaction on the interest of the company. The foregoing does not apply to typical transactions and transactions at arm's-length made as part of the company's operations between the company and members of its group.

If the decision concerning the company's significant agreement with a related party is made by the general meeting, the company should give all shareholders access to information necessary to assess the impact of the transaction on the interest of the company before the decision is made.

This principle is applied.

V.Z.6. In its internal regulations, the company should define the criteria and circumstances under which a conflict of interest may arise in the company, as well as the rules of conduct where a conflict of interest has arisen or may arise. The company's internal regulations should among others provide for ways to prevent, identify and resolve conflicts of interest, as well as rules of excluding members of the management board or the supervisory board from participation in reviewing matters subject to a conflict of interest which has arisen or may arise.

This principle is applied.

Commentary by the company: The Company has no internal written regulations within this scope but in case of any conflict of interest takes appropriate actions aiming at prevention, identification and solution of such conflicts.

VI. Remuneration

A company should have a remuneration policy applicable at least to members of the company's governing bodies and key managers. The remuneration policy should in particular determine the form, structure, and method of determining the remuneration of members of the company's governing bodies and key managers.

Recommendations

- VI.R.1. The remuneration of members of the company's governing bodies and key managers should follow the approved remuneration policy.
This principle is applied.
- VI.R.2. The remuneration policy should be closely tied to the company's strategy, its short- and long-term goals, long-term interests and results, taking into account solutions necessary to avoid discrimination on whatever grounds.
This principle is applied.
- VI.R.3. If the supervisory board has a remuneration committee, principle II.Z.7 applies to its operations.
This principle is applied.
- VI.R.4. The remuneration levels of members of the management board and the supervisory board and key managers should be sufficient to attract, retain and motivate persons with skills necessary for proper management and supervision of the company. Remuneration should be adequate to the scope of tasks delegated to individuals, taking into account additional functions, for instance on supervisory board committees. This principle is applied.

Detailed principles

- VI.Z.1. Incentive schemes should be constructed in a way necessary among others to tie the level of remuneration of members of the company's management board and key managers to the actual long-term financial standing of the company and long-term shareholder value creation as well as the company's stability.
This principle is not applied.
Commentary by the company: The Company does not have any adopted remuneration policy. Remuneration policy is defined for a given accounting year by the Supervisory Board (with regard to members of the Management Board) and by the Management Board with regard to employees and permanent collaborators under different forms of employment. Remuneration of members of the Management Board of the Company includes fixed salary and (optionally) a bonus dependent on the profit earned in a given accounting year. Remuneration of members of the Management Board and Supervisory Board for a given accounting year are open, and always published by the Company in the stock annual reports. Remuneration of managing and supervising persons is fully associated with the scope of tasks and liability resulting from the functions performed and is in reasonable and non-inflated proportion to the economic results of the Company. Therefore, the Company is in the position that its remuneration policy is transparent.
- VI.Z.2. To tie the remuneration of members of the management board and key managers to the company's long-term business and financial goals, the period between the allocation of options or other instruments linked to the company's shares under the incentive scheme and their exercisability should be no less than two years.
This principle is not applied.
Commentary by the company: The management board commentary has been described in the commentary to principle VI.R.1.
- VI.Z.3. The remuneration of members of the supervisory board should not be linked to options or other derivatives or any other variable components, and neither should it be linked to the company's results.
This principle is not applied.
Commentary by the company: The management board commentary has been described in the commentary to principle VI.R.1.
- VI.Z.4. In this activity report, the company should report on the remuneration policy including at least the following:
- 1) general information about the company's remuneration system,
 - 2) information about the conditions and amounts of remuneration of each management board member broken down by fixed and variable remuneration components, including the key parameters of setting the variable remuneration components and the terms of payment of severance allowances and other amounts due on termination of employment, contract or other similar legal relationship, separately for the company and each member of its group,
 - 3) information about non-financial remuneration components due to each management board member and key manager,
